

TRADE RELEASE 100310

TRAVELSCENE CORPORATE

March 10 2010: Travelscene Corporate members are Bangkok-bound in mid-May for their Annual Symposium with a focus on thriving in the post-GFC landscape.

Travelscene Corporate General Manager, David Padman, said the May 14-15 conference was an invaluable opportunity for members and management to assess, review and refine the strategic approach to ensure ongoing success.

“The past 12 months have certainly presented unique challenges and with those challenges came the opportunity to have a cold, hard look at what we as an organisation offer our members and how to deliver further improvements,” Mr Padman said.

“Our members know that success flows from change and not from standing still and, as always, our Corporate Symposium will provide a chance for us, individually and collectively, to determine how we will thrive in the new landscape.”

In addition to well-known business journalist, Michael Pascoe, who will be attending his third Corporate Symposium, members will benefit from the insight of key note speakers, Todd Sampson, co-creator of the Earth Hour initiative and CEO of Leo Burnett, and Terry Hawkins, a leading presenter in human performance.

Key sponsors for the 2010 Corporate Symposium are:

- Qantas Airways
- British Airways
- Singapore Airlines
- Sabre Pacific
- Hertz Australia
- Cover-More Insurance

The 2010 Corporate Symposium will be held at the Millennium Hilton Bangkok over the weekend of May 14-15.
